

Reflection

As humans, our gaze only extends as far as the material world around us. Our senses can only inform us about the immediate and sensory surroundings. As a result, we formulate certain conclusions about the nature of existence.

In today's Gospel, Jesus reminds his listeners that the perspective of God is immensely greater than what the human senses can take in. God sees into the deep crevices of space and through the eons of time. God's comprehension is infinitely unfathomable for human minds.

It can be easy to feel like our immediate concerns are of the utmost importance, but Christ redirects our attention to concerns that – while beyond our current gaze – are of even greater significance: the moral jeopardy our souls are in. When Christ states “fear him who can destroy both soul and body in hell,” he does so because the peril of this danger is not evident to us yet, but we need to heed it.

Yet Jesus' message has a positive side to it. While there is evil lurking that can ravage our souls, there is also a kingdom that awaits us in God's reality. Those who call on the name of Jesus Christ in this life will be acknowledged by Jesus in the reality to come, a reality far greater and more permanent than this fleeting plane of existence.

Although the summer weather can be hot, we are all grateful for a time of rest and relaxation. The coming months might best be characterized as “casual”. However, we respectfully ask that all parishioners make an effort to dress appropriately for the Sunday Eucharist. Our respect for the Lord and the other members of Christ's body requires that we dress appropriately. Please also remember to turn your cell phones off as you enter the church and deposit chewing gum in garbage bins.
